Dear Birth Mother,

We cannot begin to know what you must be feeling. We know this has been one of the most difficult decisions you have ever made. It takes a very strong and unselfish woman to give up her baby for adoption. We have so much respect for your courage and compassion. We understand that this decision has not been made lightly and that it is with the future of your child in mind that you have chosen adoption. We hope this scrapbook will give you an idea of who we are and what your child's life would be like in our family.

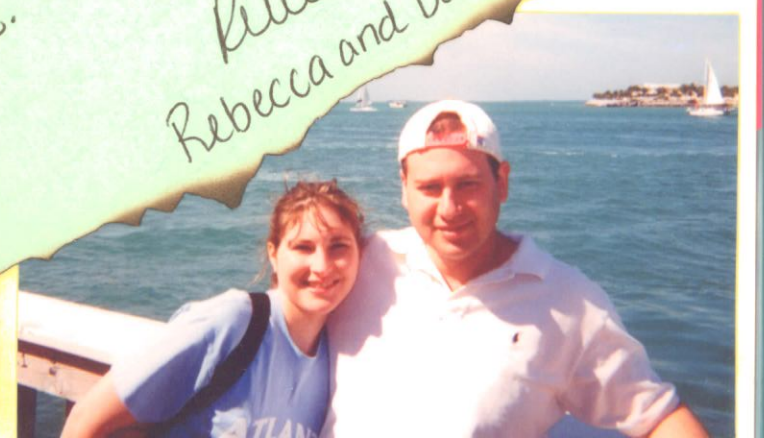

Dan and I met on a blind date July 28, 2000. We felt so comfortable with each other right away. Conversation flowed so easily, and we were laughing together before the first date was even over. We love spending time with one another and with our families, especially our adorable niece and nephew. And both sets of parents are wonderful examples of long and happy marriages. We can't imagine life without our siblings, they are two of our closest friends. We have a wonderful life together - a marriage filled with joy and laughter. All that's missing is a child to share it with us. A niece of our friend, who is adopted, says that some people are born into their families, and some people are chosen into their families. Our baby will be chosen and will have a life filled with love.

Rebecca and Dan

We got engaged October 6, 2002 and were married August 31, 2003 in Atlanta. Our wedding was joyous, as we celebrated with our friends and family. We were so happy to share such a wonderful day in our lives with the people we love most in the world. We are truly blessed to have such amazing families who made that special day possible. What a wonderful family a baby will get to share with us!
